Buff Notes

With the Midterm Elections having been this past week, I think that it is important that we as Christian take some time to reflect on where we put our trust. I pray that every person votes in accordance with whoever you believe best exemplifies Christian values no matter the color of their tie. But I pray that your trust be solely in the Lord. For everything on the earth is subject to the authority of God and can be dispatched to serve the purpose of God. That is of course that it is the will of God. As Christians we can know the will God has for us in this world to be messengers, light givers, ministers of the Gospel. But the greater workings of this world are left to His control, and they are not things he intends that we have control over or predict. Nothing should have any bearing on who we worship or put our trust in. We trust that the Lord is at work in every way, even at times we believe the "wrong people" ended up in office. Pray that our leaders, whoever they may be, are blessed with wisdom and discernment. May our trust not be in political parties, or candidates, or anything other than Yahweh, the God of gods, King of kings, Lord of lords.
