Buff Notes

I think we are in the part of the semester where students "can't even." This phrase was popular a few years ago and I still hear it from time to time. It is common to hear this when a student is exhausted, or ready to be done. They are so ready for the semester to be finished that they "can't even," they can't handle what is going on around them whether it be exams, assignments, group projects, or events. It is around this time when we naturally start to see fewer students at events. It is natural to have smaller groups, but still easy to overreact. It is easy to overreact, but it is at this time when we need to be calm. Students aren't looking for more to do, they are looking for rest! When we start seeing smaller numbers the natural thing to do is more, but often the right thing to do is slow down. The answer, as it often is, was we needed rest and prayer.

Slowing down doesn't mean that we stop, it means we take the time we need to rest or "recharge" and then we keep moving. Several times as Jesus attempted to go off to a quiet place and rest, he was followed, at these times Jesus didn't get upset with those seeking him, he met their needs. No matter how much he was interrupted he still found the time to be alone with God and pray. ### Thank You Note

Dear Family, I would like to thank everyone for the prayers and cards on my behalf while going through heart treatment. I suffered three heart attacks on September 20, 2022, and received a stent to open a main artery. I was asked if I would be willing to participate in a worldwide test program to see if a fusion process would eliminate the need for stents. The results won't be known for a year to give them time to analyze every patient. In the meantime, I had two additional stents in arteries behind the heart on Tuesday, October 18, 2022. These were planned after the first diagnosis. I have done very well and feel very good. I do only what the doctor says. I am positive that all the wonderful cards and prayers are what has made everything go well. I am free to move about but have not been able to drive until the 25th (yesterday). God bless you all. Love, Danny Allen
